Class News

We are off and running, back into the school routine. The rest of this year is going to go fast!

The second and third quarters of third grade are challenging. We have talked in class about doing the best you can, focusing, not being a distraction to others and preparing ourselves to learn as much as we can. Then we take what we have learned and applied it.

In February, third-eighth grade will take an AASA writing field test. The AASA is taking the place of AzMerit.

The AASA reading, writing, and math test for third grade will be given in April.
